How should I 'patch' right? Should I download the game again from the site? What should I do?Hi guys, Since people are asking for a 34k client I have decided to release the World of Metin2 beta client from early last year.. Many people have contributed to this release, namely the whole WoM team which as you may know is pretty big, but particularly Tim who created most of the scripts and the compiling stuff.. Contents The package includes: bin folder: this is where you actually run the client.. A patch maker/uploader script is also included in this folder Data folder: the contents of the Eterpack archives, unpacked.. 0 0 1/metin2 bin lz ErrorCode 12031 Position 987136 Size 0) The data could not be decompressed.. I reinstalled the game like 5 times and the error is still the same This problem is becoming quite annoying.. txt, it will read an online crclist and a list of files / archives and create a zip file containing the updated archives (lz'ed) and the updated crclist.. Syntax make_patch.py [-f filename] [-a packname] [-p patch (see PatchConfig.txt)] Example python make_patch.. bat file to compile the pack into the bin/pack folder When done, make a copy of metin2.
